Contains a few papers on the flora of China, these cited separately in this bibliography. Vols. 8 and 9 are edited by Schreber, vol. 10 by the younger Linnaeus. The second and third editions of vols. 1-3 and a second edition of vols. 4-7 were issued, chiefly by Schreber. They have the same pagination and vary only slightly from the originals. For further information see Pritzels's Thesaurus.

1753. Species plantarum, exhibentes plantas rite cognitatas, ad genera relatas, cum differentiis specificis, nominibus trivialibus, synonymis selectis, locis natalibus secundum systema sexuale digestas. 2 v. (1, [1-10]. 1-560. 1753; 2, 561-1200, [index 1-31]. 1753); ed. 2. 2 v. (1, [1-14]. 1-736. 1762; 2, 737-1634, [index 1-64]. 1763); ed. 3. 2 v. (1, [1-12]. 1-784. 1764; 2, 785-1682, [index 1-64]. 1764).

Contains descriptions of all known species. An anastatic reprint of the first edition was issued by Junk in 1907 and a much better facsimile reproduction was issued in Tokyo in 1934, the latter with supplementary pages 1-20 in Japanese characters. The third edition does not differ from the second. Editions 4, 5, and 6 are entered under their authors, Willdenow, Reichard, and Dietrich. For a complete index to the first edition see Mueller, F. von. 1880. For an index to binomials see Junk, W., 1907.

A companion volume to Linnaeus' Species Plantarum, with descriptions of genera only. For data on earlier and later editions see Pritzels's Thesaurus, p. 189, entry no. 5411.

1755. Centuria I plantarum. [Abraham D. Juslenius.] 1-35.

Includes Brassica chinensis sp. nov. and perhaps a few other species from eastern Asia. Republished in Linnaeus, C., 1749-90 (4: 261-296. 1759; ed. 2, 4: 261-296. 1788).

1756. Centuria II plantarum. [Eric Torner.] 1-33.

Contains Rhamnus lineata and Clerodendrum fortuneata, spp. nov. from China. Republished in Linnaeus, C., 1749-90 (4: 297-332. 1759; ed. 2, 4: 297-332. 1788).

1758-59. Systema naturae per regna tria naturae secundum classes, ordines, genera, species cum characteribus differentiis synonymis, locis. Editio decima, reformata. 2 v. (1, 1-824. 1758; 2, [i-iv], 825-1384. 1859).

The botanical part appears under the title, "Regnum vegetabile" in the 10th edition, 2: 825-1384. 1759, in the 12th edition, 2: 1-736, [index 1-16]. 1767. The tenth edition was the first issue of this work under the binomial system. The 11th edition was by J. J. Lange, the 13th by J. F. Gmelin. For data on earlier editions see Pritzels's Thesaurus, no. 5404.

1760. Caroli Linnaei Systema naturae per regna tria naturae, secundum classes, ordines, genera, species cum characteribus differentiis, synonymis, locis, ad editionem decimam reformatam. (Regnum vegetabile.) 2: 826-1380.

This is edition 11 of Linnaeus' work under the same title. The volumes on animals and minerals are not cited here. This scarcely changed edition was prepared by J. J. Lange.

1767-71. Mantissa plantarum. Generum editionis VI et specierum editionis II. 2 v. (1, 1-142, [index 1-21]. 1767; 2, i-iv, 143-588. 1771).

Includes descriptions of a few eastern Asiatic species.

1768. Iter in Chinam. [Andrea Sparrman.] 1-16.

Lists a few species of plants of southern China. Republished in Linnaeus, C., 1749-90 (7: 497-506. 1769; ed. 2, 7: 497-506. 1789).

1760. Figures of the most beautiful, useful and uncommon plants described in the Gardeners' Dictionary, exhibited on three hundred copper plates, accurately engraved after drawings taken from nature, with the characters of their flowers and seed-vessels, drawn when they were in their greatest perfection; to which are added their descriptions and an account of the classes to which they belong according to Ray's, Tournefort's, and Linnaeus's method of classing them. 2 v. (1, 1-100. pl. 1-150; 2, 101-200 [index 1-4]. pl. 151-300).
The pagination and sequence of the colored plates is continuous for the two volumes. It contains illustrations and description of a few species from China and Japan. It is sometimes erroneously cited as Miller's Icones. The nomenclature is pre-Linnaean.
1768. The gardeners' dictionary: containing the best and newest methods of cultivating and improving the kitchen, fruit, flower garden, and nursery; as also, for performing the practical parts of agriculture including the management of vineyards, etc. The eighth edition revised and altered according to the latest system of botany; and embellished with several copper-plates, which were not in some former editions.
This illustrated folio work without pagination contains the original descriptions of some eastern Asiatic plants. In this, the eighth edition, the Linnaean system of nomenclature was adopted, and various new binomials appear. 1854(?). Catalogue of plants found in Kumaon and Garhwal and the adjoining parts of Tibet. 63-122.
A list, the plants of Tibet indicated by the letter T. For revision see the next entry and Strachey, R., 1906. These pages belong to volume 2 of a projected work, according to the entry in the Kew Library Catalogue. The copy in the New York Botanical Garden library bears a hand written date 1832, which is certainly wrong. (See Proc. Linn. Soc. 1907-08: 64, where the date is given as "about 1854".) Gamble, in the revised edition of 1906, p. IV, states that a provisionally named catalogue was printed and distributed to certain herbaria, with the botanical specimens, the herbarium distribution being in 1852-53.
1882. Plants found in Kumaon, Garhwal and adjoining parts of Tibet, by Richard Strachey and Mr. Winterbottom. In E. F. T. Atkinson, Statistical, descriptive and historical account of the northwestern provinces of India. 10: 403-671.
Includes portions of Tibet. This is Duthie's revision of the preceding reference.

16	148 (1909)	27	242 (1912)
17	153 (1909)	28	248 (1912)
18	162 (1909)	29	261 (1912)
19	168 (1909)	30	282 (1913)

Beginning with no. 31 these were issued separately as: U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of plant industry.

... Inventory of seeds and plants imported ... no. [ ].

The title varies considerably throughout the series, that cited above being the form last used, and was adopted with Inventory no. 84 (1927). All earlier variations of the title include the words: "Seeds and plants imported."

There are here published occasional new species, varieties, transfers, etc. For these new names, etc., published previous to 1910, see [Wight, W. F., and Skeels, H. C.], 1910. No new names have been published since Inventory 36 (1915), but a number were published from 1910 to 1915 inclusive. No complete index has yet been published, but a card catalogue is kept in the Division of Plant Exploration and Introduction, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. See also Anonymous, 1926m; Fedde, F., 1910; and Meyer, F. N., 1911a.

1908-24. (New) Plant immigrants.

This is a mimeographed or multigraphed monthly publication of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of plant industry, Office of foreign seed and plant introduction, containing notes on current introductions, many from eastern Asia, with numerous photographs in the text. The first 86 numbers (1908-13) were issued under the title: Bulletin of foreign plant introductions, with the subtitle: New plant immigrants. The pagination was separate for each issue through no. 57. Beginning with no. 58 (1911) the pagination was continuous, the last issue, no. 219 (Oct. 1924), ending with p. 2013. Indexes of scientific and common names of plants illustrated in the first 100 numbers were issued.

APPENDIX

OLDER ORIENTAL WORKS

In the preparation of this bibliography many references to older oriental works on plants have been noted. Although these older works may be characterized as non-scientific in the modern sense, and are of little direct value in taxonomy, they contain much information that will aid in clarifying various scientific and practical problems. A striking illustration of the use of the older Chinese works in modern problems is seen in the recent extensive examination of certain older oriental works by representatives of the United States Government for information on those age-old problems of drought and erosion, so well known in China, but which until recently have been considered in the West as of little importance.

The following lists, containing 105 references, are not to be considered as complete lists of oriental works on botany. They are compiled largely from the annual reports by Dr. W. T. Swingle on the accessions to the Division of Orientalia of the Library of Congress,<sup>1</sup> Bretschneider's Botanicon Sinicum,<sup>2</sup> and a paper by Liou Ho and C. Roux in the Annales Franco-Chinoise.<sup>3</sup> Many works which should here be listed have never been mentioned in western literature. To prepare the more exhaustive and critical list, which is greatly needed today, is a task beyond the abilities of the present authors. One undertaking this task must possess not only an intimate knowledge of the Chinese language and literature, but also an extensive knowledge of botany, and must have access to extensive collections of oriental literature. It is hoped that the publication of this incomplete list will inspire some qualified and favorably located botanical scholar to undertake the completion of this task.

These references are here placed in appendices, apart from the rest of the bibliography, because they are so distinct from the more modern literature that users will doubtless wish to study them separately. Also it simplifies the problem of publishing the essential Chinese characters. The numerous cross references in the annotations to modern commentaries, translations, indexes, and other critical treatises which will help to interpret these older works, are here given in order to assist botanists not familiar with their contents. As these older works are usually rare, especially in occidental libraries, it is hoped that by means of these cross references their usefulness can be increased.

To Mr. Michael J. Hagerty, who has carefully romanized and translated these titles we owe a debt of gratitude for his painstaking labor and numerous suggestions. Dr. Walter T. Swingle has also given much valuable aid and made numerous comments, many of which are incorporated in the annotations. Several workers at the Harvard-Yenching Institute have given invaluable assistance in the preparation of the oriental titles. The printing of the Chinese characters has been made possible by a generous loan from the fonts of oriental type belonging to the Harvard-Yenching Institute.

CHINESE WORKS

THIS SECTION IS REFERRED TO IN THE MAIN BIBLIOGRAPHY AS THE "CHINESE APPENDIX." CROSS REFERENCES IN THE ANNOTATIONS REFER TO THIS APPENDIX UNLESS DESIGNATED AS "(MAIN BIBL.," OR "(JAPANESE APPEND.)."

Anonymous.

[18th cent. a] Pai hua lu 百花錄 (Pai hua ao chüeh lu). 百花粵訣錄 [Notes on the profundities of floriculture.]

This is reported to be a work of unusual interest dealing with flowering plants and their propagation and care. It was apparently published in the first half of the 18th century. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1929: 324-326. 1929. The author is, Chi Po, meaning "a wandering man."

[18th cent. b] Honzô kômoku shinan (Pên ts'ao kang mu chih nan). 本草綱目指南 [Guide to Li Shih-chên's Pên ts'ao kang mu.]

A very rare Japanese index to this famous Chinese herbal of Li Shih-chên compiled by an anonymous author about the beginning of the 18th century. For bibliographical and explanatory notes by W. T. Swingle see Rep. Libr. Congr. 1928: 309-311.

1912. Kin tei Kokon Toshō shūsei (Bunrui Moku-roku). 欽定古今圖書集成分類目錄 [An index to the "Ch'in ting ku chin t'u shu chi ch'êng." 欽定古今圖書集成] 1-514.

A Japanese index to this Chinese encyclopaedia. See Ch'ên Mêng-lei [and others], 1726. Pp. 381-400 of the index contain the table of contents of the Chinese work. For an English index see Giles, L., 1911. See also Rep. Libr. Congr. 1909: 21-23.

Chang Hsiao-chih 張孝直. See Wang Chi-hsien, Chang Hsiao-chih, Tsū Yüan, and Kao Shao-kung.

Chang T'ing-yü 張廷玉 and Chiang P'u 蔣溥.

1742. Ch'in ting shou shih t'ung k'ao 欽定授時通考. 78 books.

An imperial compilation of information on agriculture, horticulture, sericulture, animal husbandry, etc. For critical data and contents see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) 16: 84-86). For translations see Julien, S., 1842, 1843, and 1855, Hervey Saint-Denys, L. d', 1850, and Meritens, H. de, 1855 (all in main bibl.).

Chao Hsüeh-min 趙學敏 (*tzü **, Shu-hsien 恕軒).

1770. Pên ts'ao kang mu shih i. 本草綱目釋義 10 books (Ed. 1?).

This is a supplement to the famous herbal of Li Shih-chên, Pên ts'ao kang mu (1590) and constitutes the last of a series of 12 medical works by Chao Hsüeh-min. A reprint by Chang Ying-chung was issued in 1871, and these blocks were used in printing the 1885 edition of Li Shih-chên's work. See account by W. T. Swingle in the Rep. Libr. Congr. 1927: 258; 1928: 293; 1929: 320.

Chao, Ju-kua 趙汝适.

1225. Chu fan chih 諸藩志 ["A description of barbarous peoples," or "Records of foreign nations."] 2 books in 1 vol.

For bibliographical data see postface by W. W. Rockhill, dated April 1, 1914, in a recent edition of this work. For annotated translation see Hirth, F., and Rockhill, W. W., 1911 (in main bibl.).

Chao Shih-kêng 趙時庚.

- [Sung dynasty, 960-1279] Chin chang lan p'u 金漳蘭譜 [Treatise on Chinese orchids.] (In the Shuo fu collection of reprints compiled by T'ao Tsung-i, 陶宗儀 who lived in the 14th century.)

For comments on this work see Watling, H., 1928b (main bibl.) (pp. 235-240) and Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (1: 160). In Watling's comments the author's name is romanized as Tui Tsze Kang.

Ch'ên Chia-mo 陳嘉謨 (tzü, T'ing-ts'ai).

- [Date?] Pên ts'ao mêng ch'üan 本草蒙筌 [Materia medica clearly explained for beginners.]

For comments on this work see Rep. Libr. Congr. 1925: 21, Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (1: 54), and Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (main bibl.) (3: 14). In the latter the title is inexplicably given as Pên ts'ao fa ming mêng ch'üan.

Ch'ên Ching-i 陳景沂.

- [Sung dynasty, 960-1279] Ch'üan fang pei tsu. 全芳備祖.

The first part of this encyclopaedia consists of 27 chüan or books devoted to flowers. The second part is more miscellaneous, dealing with fruits, plants in general, herbs, trees, agriculture and sericulture, vegetables, and medicinal herbs. It is a work which stresses literature rather than science and consists mostly of quotations from various sources. It is discussed in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1926: 328-330. 1926. Only manuscript copies of this work are now known. A translation of the material relating to the lychee has been made by M. J. Hagerty and is to be found in the Office of Crop Physiology and Breeding, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Ch'ên Hao-tzū 陳洪子.

1688. (Pi ch'uan) hua ching. 秘傳花鏡 [Mirror of flowers.]

A well known work on flowers. The last book concerns the rearing of animals and insects. This is listed in Wylie, A., 1901 (main bibl.) (p. 150) (ed. 1, p. 120), and in Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (reprint 1: 150). For additional discussion see Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (5: 25), Wylie, A., 1901 (p. 150), and Rivoire, P., 1928 (all in main bibl.).

Ch'ên Jên-yü 陳仁玉.

1250. Chün p'u. 菌譜 [Monograph of Chinese fungi.] 1 book.

A treatise on 11 edible species produced in Chekiang. For additional data see Wylie, A., 1901 (main bibl.) (p. 152).

Ch'ên Mêng-lei 陳夢雷 [and others (compilers)].

1726. Ch'in ting ku chin t'u shu chi ch'êng. 欽定古今圖書集成 Ed. 1, 10,000 books in 5,000 volumes.

An imperial Chinese encyclopaedia published during the era of Yung-chêng 雍正 containing full quotations from Chinese works of all ages. The smallest edition ever issued consisted of 1628 volumes, 1885-88 (dated (1884). For English index and critical data on this work see Giles, L., 1911. For Japanese index see Anonymous, 1912 (this appendix). For bibliographical discussion by W. T. Swingle see Rep. Libr. Congr. 1927: 264. M. J. Hagerty reports the botanical material is found in Category IV, Section XX, from which he has made translations of texts concerning the citrus fruits, lychee, and lungan, and six or more accounts concerning walnuts, plantains, sorghum, cotton, Myrica rubra, Eleocharis plantaginea, etc.

Chi Han 稽含.

[About A. D. 290-307.] Nan fang ts'ao mu chuang 南方草木狀 [Account of the flora of the southern regions.]

This is reported to be the earliest Chinese purely botanical treatise. For commentary and identification of some of the plants in this early work see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 38-39).

Chi To-lou (tzu, Chên-tê). See Shih To-lu.

Chiang P'u 蔣溥. See Chang Ting-yü and Chiang P'u.

Ch'ien Yün-chih 錢允治 (tzu, Kung-fu 功甫).

[12-13th cent.] Shih-wu pên ts'ao. 食物本草 [Food herbal.]

A compilation of data from Li Shih-chên, 1590. For critical data see the report by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1935: 203-206. This work is referred to in Geerts, A. J. C., 1878-83 (pp. 81-84) (main bibl.).

Chih Po. See Anonymous, [18th cent. a].

Chou kung 周公.

[3d cent. B. C.] Êrh ya. 爾雅

A dictionary of terms used in the Chinese classics, including many botanical names. For a commentary on this work and the various editions and other data see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 34-37). See also E. C. Bridgeman's comments in Chin. Repos. 18: 169. 1849. The exact date of publication is uncertain, probably the third cent. B. C. The authorship is also uncertain.

Chou Li-ching 周履靖.

1582. Ju-ts'ao pien. 茹草編

A Ming dynasty treatise on plants. For comments by W. T. Swingle see Rep. Libr. Congr. 1936: 190-191.

Chou Ting wang 周定王. See Chu Hsiao.

Chu Chên-hêng 朱震亨.

1536. Pên ts'ao yen i pu i 本草衍義補遺 [Supplement to the Pên ts'ao yen i.]

A treatise on materia medica. It is one of the works used or referred to by Li Shih-chên in preparation of his famous Pên ts'ao kang mu (1590). For bibliographical notes, especially on its various editions, see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1929: 317-318. 1928; also Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 49).

Chu Hsiao 朱橚 (posthumous title, Chou Ting wang 周定王).

[15th cent.] Chiu huang pên ts'ao. 救荒本草

This is a treatise on plants fit for supporting life in time of scarcity, sometimes called "The famine herbal." It contains excellent wood cuts of wild Chinese plants of which 276 are illustrated for the first time in this work. For a critical commentary and list of identifications of plants see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 49-53). It was first published in the early part of the 15th century. Many subsequent editions have appeared, one in Hsü Kuang-ch'i, 1640. This is reported to have been translated about 1846, the synonymy recorded by J. Hoffmann (see Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28, 1: 21) (main bibl.) See also the comments by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1925: 265; 1935: 193-201, where may be secured data on Japanese translations as well as in Shirai, M., 1926b (main bibl.) (p. 224).

Chu Lun 朱鑰 (tzu, Tung-ch'iao 東樵).

1739. Pên ts'ao shih chien. 本草詩箋

An herbal, written in poetical form as an aid in memorizing, with commentaries in prose. For bibliographical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1929: 318-320.

Fang Kuan-ch'êng 方觀承.

[Date?] Imperial comments concerning illustrations of the cotton industry. Yü t'i mien hua t'u 御題棉花圖 by Viceroy and Imperial Tutor Fang Kuan-ch'êng 方觀承 with poems by the Emperors K'ang-hsi and Ch'ien-lung. Original text and plates with a translation of the text by S. C. Kiang 江紹清 (tzu, K'ang-hu 亢虎) and Walter T. Swingle, July 1917.

An important early Chinese source of information on cotton. This translation and the original text have been photographed and a copy deposited in the library of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., 1919-22.

Giles, L.

1911. An alphabetical index to the Chinese encyclopaedia, Ch'in ting ku chin t'u shu chi ch'êng. 欽定古今圖書集成. i-xx, 1-100, [i-ii].

By means of this index the valuable botanical information in the mentioned Chinese work may be found. See Ch'ên Meng-lei [and others], 1726.

Han Yen-chih 韓彥直.

1178. Chü lu 橘錄 [Monograph on oranges.] 3 books.

This is considered to be the earliest known scientific treatise on the citrus fruits in any language. The preface date is 1178. It was first published in 1273. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1923: 181-183. 1923. For translation see Pelliot, P., and Hagerty, M. J., 1923 (main bibl.).

Hsü Kuang-ch'i 徐光啓.

1640. Nung chêng ch'üan shu 農政全書 [Complete collection of writings on agriculture.] 60 books in 30 vols.

A famous work on Chinese agriculture. Books 43-59 contain a reprint of the text and illustrations of the famous "Famine Herbal," the Chiu huang pên ts'ao 救荒本草 written early in the 15th century (see Chu Hsiao, [15th cent.]), and other important reprints. For additional bibliographical notes see the report by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1925: 265, and the discussions in Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (16: 82-84), Davis, J. F., 1855, and Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (5: 23-24) (all in main bibl.). The accounts of Sesamum indicum, Eleocharis, Zingiber officinale, and citrus fruits in this work have been translated by M. J. Hagerty.

Hsü Shên 許慎.

[2d cent. A. D.] Shuo wên. 說文

For the scientific names of some of the plants mentioned in this earliest of Chinese dictionaries see Hu, H. H., 1916 (main bibl.).

Hsü Yung-ch'êng 徐用誠 (tzü, Yen-shun 彥純).

1809. Pên ts'ao fa hui. 本草發揮 [Materia medica exhaustively explained.] Revised edition, 4 books.

A Chinese herbal. For bibliographic notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1930: 371-373. 1930; also Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 49).

I Chu-mo 倪朱謨 (tzü, Shun-yü 純宇).

1646. Hui t'u pên ts'ao kang mu hui yen 繪圖本草綱目彙言 [Illustrated herbal with classified explanation.] 20 books.

The preface is dated 1624. For critical notes by W. T. Swingle see Rep. Libr. Congr. 1924: 277; 1925: 271-273; 1928: 294, and Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (main bibl.) (3: 14).

Kang Heui-an 姜希顔 (tzü, Kyeng-oo 景愚; hao,* In-chai 仁齋).

1474. Yang hoa sho rok 養花小錄 [Jottings on the culture of flowers.]

A Korean treatise on flowers and their culture. The author's name is here transliterated in Korean. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1931: 299-303. 1931. The plants contained in this work are listed in Courant, M., 1894-1901 (main bibl.) (3: 124).

Kao Shao-kung 高紹功. See Wang Chi-hsien, Chang Hsiao-chih, Tzu Yüan, and Kao Shao-kung.*K'ou Tsung-shih 寇宗奭.

[About 1115] Pên ts'ao yen i. 本草衍義. 3 books.

For reference to this early herbal see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 48) and Rep. Libr. Congr. 1925: 16.

Ku Yüan-chiao 顧元交 (tzü, Yen-wên 焉文).

1666? Pên ts'ao hui chien 本草彙箋 [Collected explanations of materia medica.] 10 books, 2 suppl.

A Chinese materia medica of the P'iling district (present Wuchin district) in Kiangsu Province, containing 7 books concerned with plants. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1932: 202-203.

Kuo P'ei-lan 郭佩蘭 (tzü, Chang-i 章宜).

1666. Pên ts'ao hui 本草匯 [A compendium of materia medica.] 18 books in 12 vols.

An illustrated Chinese herbal or materia medica. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1926: 318-320. The preface was prepared in 1655 by Li Chung-tzu. See Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (main bibl.) (3: 13).

Kuo Po-ts'ang 郭栢蒼 (tzü, Chien-ch'iu 兼秋).

1886a. Hai ts'o po i lu. 海錯百一錄 [Notes on a hundred and one marine products.] 5 books.

A Chinese work containing botanical references to the products of Fukien. For data see notes by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1933: 122-123. 1934.

1886b. Min ch'an lu i. 閩產錄異. 6 books.

This Chinese work contains records of rare products of Fukien, many botanical. For data see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1933: 122-123. 1934.

* Hao means "pseudonym."

Lan Mao 蘭茂 (hao, Chih-an 止菴).

1887-88. Tien nan pên ts'ao 滇南本草 [Yunnan herbal.]

This is a new edition, published in Yunnan, of a Chinese herbal dealing with the plants of that province, first published in the Ming Dynasty. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1923: 183-185.

Li Chi 李勣.

669 A. D. T'ang pên ts'ao 唐本草

A materia medica of the T'ang Dynasty, 617-906. For additional data see Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 44-45) and Shirai, M., 1926b (main bibl.) (p. 215).

Li Chung-li 李中立 (tzü, Ch'êng-yu).

[Date?] Pên ts'ao yüan shih 本草原始 [Early sources of materia medica.]

See Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (3: 15), and Courant, M., 1900-10 (no. 5334) (both in main bibl.).

Li Chung-tzū 李中梓.

1667. Pên ts'ao t'ung hsüan 本草通玄 [Understanding the mysteries of materia medica.]

A Chinese herbal, the drugs described from a therapeutical point of view. This is contained in his Shih ts'ai san shu. For critical notes see the account by W. T. Swingle in Rep. Libr. Congr. 1926: 320-322. 1926, and Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (main bibl.) (3: 14).

Li Shih-chên 李時珍.

1590. Pên ts'ao kang mu 本草綱目 [Materia medica with commentaries.] Ed. 1.

This is the most famous of the numerous Chinese herbals. There are 14 editions in the libraries in Washington. The best edition, that of 1885, contains the Pên ts'ao kang mu shih i (see Chao Hsüeh-min, 1770). Another edition of 16 volumes with 52 books was published in 1893. The third edition is dated 1640. For data on the first reprint made in Japan, which appeared in 52 books in 1672, see Makino, T., 1926f (main bibl.). For another edition see Inau, Nobuyoshi, 1714 (Japanese append.). Historical notes by W. T. Swingle on this work and the various editions in the Library of Congress are to be found in the Rep. Libr. Congr. 1925: 21; 1926: 323; 1927: 250-255; 1928: 293-294; 1929: 320-321; 1930: 369-370, 379-380; 1932: 199-202; 1933: 119, 121. Additional notes are to be found in Bretschneider, E. V., 1882-96 (main bibl.) (16: 54-69), Makino, T., 1932a (main bibl.), Liou, Ho, and Roux, C., 1927-28 (main bibl.) (1: 22; 3: 12) and Wong, K.

Chimin, and Wu, Lien-ten, 1932 (main bibl.). For an index see Anonymous, [18th cent. b]. For identification of principal drugs see Chao, Chü-huang, 1933 (main bibl.) and for identification of some plants see Faber, E., 1907 (main bibl.). For supplement see Chao Hsüeh-min, 1770. For illustrated commentary see I Chu-mo, 1646. For synopsis see Hanbury, D., 1860-62 (main bibl.). Ten or more accounts of plants, grains, fruits, etc. in this work have been translated by M. J. Haggerty. For translations concerning paper-making see Anonymous, 1845 (main bibl.). For a Japanese translation see Makino, T., 1932ee (main bibl.).
